

The Wolves

Dir. Karin Hendricks

Playing #00 was never something I quite imagined for myself, but I quickly became so attached to the character, I can't imagine playing anyone else. She is such a resilient being, and I am so honored to have brought such a ferocious character to life with a cast of equally ferocious actresses.

“Kaylene Howard as #00 brings an especially powerful solo moment to a very jarring end, creating so much tension in her body and face it was hard not to wince in pain. Howard is very adept at playing in these quiet moments and finding hard-to-reach places of emotional chaos.”
